Excerpt: .the second of the two series totals 11.5 the correlational coefficient will be 0.30. If the order of this second series were reversed the sum of the gains will be 19.55 and its R is.18. The table of significant correlations contains all those positive correlations which are above twice the probable error. In the groups discussed below only those correlations which are above three times this probable error are considered; for, as Spearman points out, a low correlation is not trustworthy. It is important, however, if it occurs frequently. For that reason the smaller figures appear in the positive correlation table. In arranging the correlation results, below, each experiment is given and its correlations with the others. The correlational coefficient is given in parentheses and the experiment is briefly described with an abbreviated reference to the chapter and table where it is described in...
